

Social and Personal

The Governor of Virginia and Mrs. William Hodges Mann have as their guests at the Executive Mansion their niece, Miss Roberta Mann, and Miss Constance Kent, of Petersburg. Miss Kent and Miss Mann will remain in Richmond for several days.

Several very delightful parties are being entertained in private homes in Richmond for Independence Day, and the night of an informal nature, some exceedingly interesting dinners and luncheons will take place in town. Several parties left Richmond yesterday for country places near town, making the trip in automobiles. The Fourth is being means as largely celebrated in the South as it is in Northern cities and States. Most of the clubs will keep open house, the few people left in town are entertaining guests informally, and in Charlottesville at the University of Virginia, a big masquerade ball will be given by the people who are spending the summer there. In New England it is generally the custom to have a parade of historical characters or floats portraying tableaux with a queen of beauty and her attendants, in which all of the townspeople take part, and followed by some sort of ball or dance in the evening.

A party of Richmond people left town yesterday in automobiles for "Hagle Point" in Gloucester county, where they will spend several days. They will return to Richmond Friday. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kinney Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, Miss Sarah Hamilton, Mrs. J. B. George Bryan, J. W. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. George Altmann, Madison Scott and Dr. Robert C. Bryan.

Attending House Parties.

Miss Rose Gordon Haxall left Baltimore Tuesday for West Point, N. Y., where she is among the guests at a house party which is being given by Mrs. Randolph Peyton. Miss Anne Gordon Haxall is the guest over July 4 of Miss Phoebe Satterfield, of Philadelphia, who, with her family, is occupying the cottage at Cape May for the summer. Miss Satterfield has recently returned from an extended stay with friends in Europe.

Card Party in Wytheville.

Miss Magale Hubble entertained her friends charmingly at cards on Friday evening at her home in Wytheville, in honor of Miss May Brooks, of Bedford, Ind. Among Miss Hubble's guests were Misses Eleanor Terry, Kate Green, Josephine Main, Mary Gibbons.

A pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon at the home of James Orrock's home, Brook Hill, when his daughter, Miss Annie Bell, was united in marriage to Peter Ritter, of Richmond, the Rev. E. C. Gossett, the bride's father, officiating. The ceremony was a pathway through which the bride walked to a mammoth oak tree, where the ceremony was performed under its spreading branches. The color scheme was pink and green.

The bride wore a gown of white marquisette, embroidered. Her veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies and sweet peas. The bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Orrock, sister of the bride. She was charmingly dressed in white, and carried a pink and white bouquet. The best man was William Butler.

After the ceremony a reception was held. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Ritter will reside in South Richmond, where they will be at home to their friends after July 17.

FORGERY CHARGE AGAINST J. H. GOSS

Petersburg Man Is Held to Grand Jury in Police Court.

RELEASED ON $500 BAIL

Probation Class Grows Rapidly and Number of "Drunks" Decreases.

Times-Dispatch Bureau.
3 Bollingbrook Street.
(Telephone 1448).
Petersburg, Va., July 3.

In the Police Court this morning J. H. Goss, who for several years has conducted a loan office on Halifax Street, was sent to the Huntington Court to answer the charge of forgery. The specific charge is that of signing the name of Joe Hawkins, colored, employed as porter by the Norfolk and Western Railway Company in this city, to an order on J. B. Lacy, treasurer of the company at Roanoke, for the payment to him of Hawkins's salary for the month of May. On the back of the order is written an affidavit sworn to before "George W. Bobbitt," a justice of the peace in Petersburg, certifying that Grace Carmichael witnessed the signature of Joe Hawkins to the order. Hawkins denies that he signed such order. There is no justice of the peace named Bobbitt in Petersburg, and the police know no such person as "George W. Bobbitt" or Grace Carmichael.

Goss was admitted to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance for trial. He swore out a warrant for the arrest of "George W. Bobbitt" for the larceny of $9 cents, the fee paid for writing the affidavit, but Bobbitt has not been found.

Probation Class Growing.

Eight white men charged with drunkenness and habitual drinking were this morning placed under the probationary care of Chief Ragland, and have been given warning of what will happen to them if they do not reform. Chief Ragland's probation class now numbers a dozen or more members, and he is exercising a fatherly care over them, hoping to reform rather than have them punished. The new law has already had a good effect in reducing the number of "drunks" in the city.

Caucus Nominees Elected.

The Board of Aldermen and Common Council met in joint session last night and confirmed the action of the joint caucus of last week by electing the nominees for police and fire commissioners and members of the School Board to fill vacancies occurring July 1. Thomas B. MacInn was elected police commissioner and Mortimer Williams fire commissioner, each for a term of three years. The four members of the School Board were duly elected, and Bernard Mann was chosen to succeed R. O. Eckert, deceased.

meeting of the new fiscal year last night, and a good deal of routine business was transacted. The report and recommendation of the Street Committee on the proposed opening of a new street through the West Hill property, from East Tab to Franklin Street, and running parallel to Spenser and Adams Streets, brought on an animated discussion between President Mattox, who made the report, and Councilman W. R. McKenney, who opposed the recommendation that the City Attorney be instructed to acquire the ground necessary for the street by condemnation. Mr. McKenney opposed the recommendation on the ground that he does not believe in improving private property at the public cost. Too much of such work has already been done by the city, he said.

President Mattox favored the recommendation on the ground that the opening of the street would mean the addition of much new property to the city. Some sharp words were passed between the two members. A motion by Mr. McKenney to refer the matter to the City Attorney was adopted.

The Council agreed to award the contract to Carter Brothers, under a $500 bond, for the removal of dead animals, slaughter house and market refuse and meats, fish, etc., condemned by the city health officer, to their fertilizer establishment in Pocahontas.

Councilman Stratton offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the police commissioners to report as to the cost of purchase and maintenance of an up-to-date automobile patrol wagon for the use of the Police Department. A patrol wagon has long been a pressing need of the Police Department.

Addressed the Eagles.

J. H. Hirschberg, of Richmond, State secretary of the Order of Eagles, was the guest of Petersburg Aerie last night. He addressed the aerie, and among other things urged the appointment of delegates to the national convention of the order to be held in Cleveland, O., in August. The aerie will act on the matter at its next meeting.

"Hobo" Park Raided.

What is known as "Hobo" Park, on the river bank in the western part of the city, was raided by the police last night, and ten men, all more or less drunk, were rounded up and brought to the station house. Some of them had been brought in wagons. In the Police Court this morning three of the number were put under probation. The "Hobo" Park is a popular resort for drinking, playing craps and the like.

A meeting of the State executive committee of the Progressive party, held last night, and was largely attended. All districts were represented either in person or by proxy. The committee unanimously confirmed the action of State Chairman Newcomb in pledging support to Colonel Roosevelt, and authorized to issue such calls as may be necessary to further the interest of Colonel Roosevelt and the progressive party in this State. The meeting decided to open offices at 35 Bollingbrook Street as temporary headquarters of the progressive party.

DENTISTS BEGIN ANNUAL SESSION
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Raleigh, N. C., July 3.—The thirty-sixth annual session of the North Carolina Dental Society was opened in Representative Hall of the State House to-night with prayer by Rev. M. A. Barber, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, the sessions to continue through Saturday afternoon. Governor Kitchin welcomed the dentists in a most appropriate address, and his response was by Dr. D. L. James, of Greenville. There was also to-night a presentation of the D. L. Thorpe, president of the society, of Winston-Salem, and the annual essay by Dr. E. R. Howie, of Raleigh. The address by Dr. Horton was devoted to that smacked strongly of the progressive in professional matters, but was sufficiently uncharged with controversy to satisfy the sticklers for established professional ethics. The necessity of a careful education among the people in dental hygiene was especially treated.

Carter-Jones.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Danville, Va., July 3.—Robert S. Carter, a prominent Pittsylvania farmer, and Mrs. Lulu Jones, of Caswell, were married here at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the Burton Hotel. In the presence of a few friends, the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Winn, of North Methodist Church, the bride returning to Mr. and Mrs. Carter's future home near Stokesland, where an informal reception was held.

"LAIRD OF COCKPEN" NOW IS IN NEW YORK

Member of Peerage Careful to Conceal Real Title During Voyage.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.
NEW YORK, July 3.—The Earl of Dalhousie, arrived through the Hotel Marlborough-Blenheim, a peer who goes throughout Scotland by the nickname of "the Laird of Cockpen."

His real title, which he was careful to conceal while crossing the Atlantic on the Mauretania—in the Earl of Dalhousie and twenty-five years ago there was no British title more widely known in America, and especially in New York society, than his. For his parents spent much of their time on this side of the water, were familiar figures on Fifth Avenue, and it was on landing at Havre, after a stay of several months over here, that both died at a Havre hotel, with such dramatic suddenness, within a few hours of one another, as to give rise to an unfounded rumor of suicide.

The late Countess of Dalhousie was a remarkable beautiful woman, a sister of some French Earl of Flanders, and with a strong strain in her veins of the blood of the French Ducal House of the Grammonts, which is famous in history for its remarkably good looks. It was Lady Dalhousie who, in the first of her now believed of poisoning, and her husband was so affected by the shock that he succumbed on the same day, presumably of some heart ailment. They left a family of five small boys, the eldest about ten years of age at the time, who died at a very young age, and after a long and arduous life, the Earl Charles Ramsay, and by his American wife, Estelle Garrison, daughter of the late William R. Garrison.

He died about five years ago, having had no children of his own, and Charles Ramsay, his son, who was married every year in connection with his American financial interests. He was subjected soon after his elder brother's death to a most humiliating affront. Some American belonging to the Knickerbocker Club in New York who had been put up for membership at the Bachelors' Club in London, had been turned down, and although Ramsay had nothing to do with the matter, as he did not belong to the Bachelors' Club, and was in the United States at the time, yet when proposed for election to the Knickerbocker Club, he was black-balled as a matter of spite, simply because he was a London chairman.

If I mention this it is because it created for a number of years a certain amount of ill-feeling in English clubland that rendered the election of a chairman to temporary membership of Americans, the first class London clubs, a matter of much difficulty. The late Earl of Dalhousie, who was a member of the Bachelors' Club, followed Gladstone when the memorable break took place in the Liberal camp a year before the former's death.

Charles Ramsay, however, on becoming the guardian of his young nephew, and the administrator of the Dalhousie estates in Scotland, took 100,000 acres in extent, entered Parliament.
